DETROIT IN A FUROR OVER THE SHOOTING

NO SYMPATHY FOR THE STRIKING POLACKS.

Two of the Rioters Were Shot to Death to Save the Lives of Officers—Sheriff Collins' Condition Is Serious—Citizens Are Highly Incensed.

DETROIT, Mich., April 19.—A riot at noon yesterday, precipitated by striking Poles who had been in the employ of the Detroit Water board, led to an attack on the sheriff and six deputies. Two were killed and many injured.

The killed are:

KARNOTSKI, ANDREA, shot three times and died soon after.

PILAT, JOHN, shot in the head; died at the first volley.

The following were wounded:

BURCH, W. H., sheriff's deputy, pick wound in the thigh, ribs broken, and other internal injuries.

COLLINS, CHARLES P., sheriff of Wayne county, terribly pounded about the head and blood-vessels severed in right leg.

ESKI, ANDREW, rioter, bullet in neck and two in stomach; at hospital dying.

GRABAWSKI, JOSEPH, Polish rioter, shot through the body just above the heart; is dying.

KASCHFIKI, MICHAEL, bullet wounds in neck and jaw and left breast; will die.

KAPPSCHMIDT, JOHN, rioter, shot in thigh, arm and neck.

ALFRED, FRED, slightly hurt.

BERSIG, ANDREW, sheriff's deputy, pounded about head and shoulders.

CATHEY, GEORGE, foreman for water board, is a mass of painful cuts and bruises.

ELY, GEORGE, sheriff's deputy, cut about head and neck.

FISHER, JOHN RUSSELL, News reporter, bruised on back and shoulders.

FIUSE, WILLIAM F., patrolman, hurt about arms and head.

FRISE, W. E., sheriff's deputy, cut and bruised.

GARBKAWIAK, TONY, rioter, shot through the thigh.

KULWICKI, LAWRENZ, rioter, shot through the thigh.

KUHIAK, JOSEPH, two bullets in thigh.

POWSKI, ANTON, rioter, shot in the knees while trying to evade arrest.

STEYSKEL, MATTHEW, sheriff's deputy, painful wounds about the head and face.

Sheriff Collins, closely pressed by the rioters, fired three shots before he was borne to the earth. His deputies instantly followed suit by emptying their revolvers and falling back. The strikers followed, pounding the deputies with spades, picks, and shovels. All ran away but Sheriff Collins, who was brutally beaten while down.

John Pilat, a Pole, fell dead at the first volley, shot in the head. Andrea Karnotski, a Pole, was shot three times and died soon after. Five other rioters who were seriously hurt could not escape. A dozen who were shot in the arms and legs or slightly wounded about the body fled and have not yet been found.

Sheriff Collins is likely to die. as is a deputy and three of the strikers. It is supposed that some of the Poles who escaped are seriously wounded. All the deputies were injured.

The trouble was caused by the Detroit water board's refusal to pay the wages demanded by 500 Polish laborers who were working on the water pipe extensions at Conner's Creek, a mile beyond the city limits. Sheriff Collins and six deputies were on hand at noon to protect the water board employes while they removed their tools from an excavation. Foreman Cathey jumped down into the pit to take up a pump when there was a cry in Polish, from the leader of the strikers and a forward rush of hundreds, who held their spads and pickaxes aloft.

Then somebody struck Cathey a blow on the head which felled him to the bottom of the excavation. Sheriff Collins waved his arms wildly and shrieked to the mob adjurations to stand back, but he might as well have spared his breath. Then he drew his revolver and aimed it point blank at the crowd.

One, two, three, the shots rang out from his weapon as rapidly as he could pull the trigger. But a long-handled shovel upraised behind him descended swiftly and a corner of it pierced his skull. As he fell another shovel struck him on the calf of his right leg and a stream of blood spurted out.

A dozen rioters gathered round the sheriff's prostrate form and were aiming fresh blows at him when a man rushed in under the uplifted shovels and cried out: "He is dead. Leave him alone."

Foreman Cathey did not escape with that first blow. Again and again did sharp shovels fall on his head and his uplifted hands until consciousness left him and he sank face downward into the water which covered the bottom of the excavation. He would have drowned there but for James P. Murtagh, a reporter, who, with the assistance of another man, raised him from his perilous position and carried him off to a place of safety.

When the sheriff fired his deputies quickly followed suit, and for a few moments there was a shower of bullets, all fired at short range into the dense crowd. This did not deter the infuriated laborers. Though several of their number fell they pressed on until the muzzles of the officers' revolvers were at their very breasts. The deputies then fled, and after being pursued for short distances and receiving painful wounds they were allowed to escape.

Meanwhile Sheriff Collins in the confusion was carried to a nearby shanty. By his order a telephone message was sent for the police to come to his assistance and a call for all the ambulances in the city.

The affair was all over in a few minutes. The scene at the battle was a horrible sight. Blood was sprinkled over the grass at the roadside. The sheriff lay gasping for breath in the little shanty to which he had been taken and several men, among whom were a number of Poles, were bathing his head and leg with water and moistening his lips. A Pole, John Pilat, lay dead on his back with blood oozing from his mouth where the bullet entered. George Cathey was a short distance from the excavation and some of the reporters and residents of Grosse Point were washing away the blood which oozed from his many wounds.

By the time a squad of 100 police and a big posse under Sheriff Archer arrived on the ground not a striker who was able to walk was in sight. Ambulances soon arrived and the wounded were brought to town. Sheriff Collins was conveyed to his residence at the jail and the wounded Poles taken to hospitals.

A big crowd gathered about the jail early in the evening waiting to hear the latest news from Sheriff Collins. Late at night physicians reported the sheriff resting much easier and with chances in favor of recovery. Joseph Grabowski is sinking rapidly at the Emergency hospital and will probably die. Andrew Eske, another rioter, is close to death's door at St. Mary's hospital. Deputy Burch is better and stands a good chance of living. Kappschmidt is holding his own.

Before darkness fell massmeetings were being called in the Polish districts. A squad of twenty deputies were detailed to guard the jail and preparations were made by the police for further trouble. Officers were scattered throughout the Polish district to watch for any organized movement to revenge their wounded and dead countrymen. The police are hunting down the rioters and many have already been arrested on suspicion. This has aroused the Poles to greater excitement and fears are expressed that the officers may be attacked at any moment. The people of Detroit are greatly incensed and excited and if the Poles appear in a body in the business portion of town, as is feared, the slaughter will be terrible.

Fifty Poles now pack the jail and its corridors, and officers are hourly bringing in men suspected of having taken part in the Conner's Creek affair. While Officer James Kendall was bringing in Anton Powski, one of the gang, just before 6 o'clock, his friends jostled the officer so that the prisoner broke loose and ran. Kendall fired twice and his man dropped with a shattered knee. The crowd then fled and Powski was taken to Grace hospital. He will be a cripple for life.

Another riot occurred in the morning at the upper end of Woodward avenue, but was so overshadowed by the greater riot that little attention was paid to it. Two hundred Poles and 100 Italians indulged in a free fight at the scene of Contractor Guelich's paving job, four miles out. Each nationality proposed to fill the fifty positions offered, and during the row many heads were broken. The fight was still on when the police came in sight, but the mob quickly scattered and not an arrest was made. Contractor Guelich expects more trouble to-day.

A MILD CYCLONE.

Windstorm With Some Rainfall Causes Damage in Several Cities.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 19.—Several local storms prevailed throughout this region yesterday and a great quantity of rain fell all over McLean county. This was greatly needed. The worst storm in many years swept over White Oak township, and at the Village of Carlock there was a wind that was almost cyclonic in its fury. Much damage was done.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—Springfield was visited by a severe wind and rain storm yesterday. Considerable damage was done by the wind. During the afternoon there were two or more heavy rainstorms.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, April 19.—Last night's storm caused considerable damage to railroad property. The Sioux City & Pacific was tied up by washouts between Missouri Valley and Blair, the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley by several washouts in Nebraska, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul by washouts at Arion, Iowa.

FARGO, N. D., April 19.—For six days and nights rain has poured down with only short intermissions. Farm lands in the valley are flooded, while in the city the condition of the streets is so bad that empty wagons frequently get stalled. Farmers are becoming alarmed at prospects for unusually late seeding.

TOWN OF KENT, IA., BURNING.

Entire Business Portion of the Place in Flames—Help from Creston.

CRESTON, Iowa, April 19.—The town of Kent, nine miles south of here, is burning. The entire business portion is in flames and the fire beyond control. The whole town will probably burn. The Creston fire department left at midnight on a special train to assist them.

Ohio Miners Will Quit Saturday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 19.—Ex-President John Nugent of the Ohio Miners' union arrived in Columbus yesterday and stated that all the miners of the Hocking Valley would quit work at 11 o'clock Saturday, one hour earlier than the time set by the convention.

STOCKBRIDGE SICK IN A NEPHEW'S HOME

SENATOR IS CONSIDERED VERY SERIOUSLY ILL.

Cleveland Said to Approve the Seigniorage Bill—Representatives Mayer's Measure Meets the President's Approval—Mr. Carlisle Also Endorses It—Senator Morrill and Tariff.

WASHINGTON, April 19—Senator Stockbridge may not serve out his time. He is at the residence of his nephew in Chicago and is very dangerously ill. His health has been poor for some time.

Silver occupying the house again today. Representative R. P. Bland's coinage committee met yesterday for the first time since the silver seigniorage struggle and was treated to a genuine surprise. Representative Meyer of Louisiana was present to urge his bill for coining the seigniorage and for low-interest bonds, and in doing so he stated authoritatively that the measure had the approval and was in part suggested by Secretary Carlisle and in the judgment of the secretary would be signed by the President. To this extent the bill was regarded as an administration one and as satisfactorily overcoming the objections of Mr. Cleveland's veto of the Bland bill. The bill, Mr. Meyer explained, provided for coining the seigniorage, and so amended the resumption act that 3 per cent bonds would in future be issued in lieu of the 4½ and 5 per cent bonds. After discussing the measure Mr. Harter asked:

"Is it to be understood that this bill is satisfactory to the secretary of the treasury, and in his judgment will be approved by the President?"

Mr. Meyer answered: "Yes, I can say that the bill was submitted to the secretary and it meets his approval, and in his judgment it will fully meet the views of the President and receive his signature."

The measure was discussed by the committee, but no conclusion was reached upon it.

House Gets Down to Business.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—In the house yesterday Mr. Dumphy (dem.) of New York asked unanimous consent for the consideration of the New York and New Jersey bridge bill.

Mr. Kilgore (dem.) of Texas stated rather sarcastically that as the house now had rules by which it could transact business, he could not agree to any requests for unanimous consent. He demanded the regular order, which was equivalent to an objection.

After the call of committees for reports the house went into committee of the whole (Mr. Bailey of Texas in the chair) for the further consideration of the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill.

Mr. Grow (rep., Penn.) and Mr. Milliken (Maine) vigorously arraigned the Hawaiian policy of the administration.

Mr. Quigg (rep., N. Y.) in the course of some general remarks criticising the Van Alen appointment got into a verbal duel with Mr. Enloe (dem., Tenn.). Many other members were drawn into the discussion and the tariff bill was for a time lost sight of in personalities.

Mr. Grosvenor (rep., Ohio) concluded the debate for the day with some remarks about the manner in which the Wilson bill had been battered beyond recognition in the senate. The free raw materials theory incorporated in the house bill had been abandoned. He claimed the trusts of the country had amended it in the senate, and unless the democrats of the house accepted it as it was changed the bill was dead beyond the hope of resuscitation.

When Mr. Grosvenor finished the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Senator Morrill on the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — Senator Morrill contributed his views to the tariff debate in the senate yesterday. He pointed out in detail what he considered the special evils of the bill, the first being the obsolete ad valorem system. The purpose of the bill, he thought, was especially destructive toward the productions of the farmer. Reciprocity arrangements which benefit the farmer are to be abrogated. The income tax he called a blunder.

Senator Caffery of Louisiana denied that he was not in harmony with his party. He should, he said, actively support and vote for the tariff bill as amended by the finance committee.

Senator Turpie (dem., Ind.) spoke in support of the tariff bill. He discussed the effect of a high tariff on the agricultural interests, introducing the topic by the assertion that agriculture was America's natural monopoly from the cheapness of the land, and it was from those engaged in agriculture that the demand for the repeal of the existing law was loudest.

Then Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania took the floor in opposition to the bill and was followed by Senator Quay, who discussed the production of iron.

Mr. Sherman gave notice that to-day at 5 o'clock he would ask the senate to listen to eulogies on the late Representative Enochs of Ohio. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

May Not Pass on the Scandal.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The feeling among leading members of the house of representatives is that no action should be taken concerning the Breckinridge scandal.

GOV. TILLMAN'S LAW AT LAST SET ASIDE

SOUTH CAROLINA "DISPENSARIES" UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Statute Set Aside By the Supreme Court After Riot and Blood Shed Have Marked Its Course—The Governor Has Aroused Much Antagonism.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 19—The dispensary law was to-day declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. This ends all controversy as to one of the most notable legislative efforts of the decade. As everybody knows it made the state of South Carolina proprietor of the only saloons permitted to run within the borders. The idea was borrowed from the Swedish-

B. R. TILLMAN, Governor of South Carolina.

Author of the Dispensary law, which places the sale of liquor in South Carolina in the hands of the state. His attempts to enforce the provisions of this act recently caused a revolution on a small scale at Darlington and other points, which was quelled by the prompt action of the governor. He is a populist-democrat, 47 years of age, and said to be an astute politician. In 1864 he lost an eye from abscess produced by inflammation resulting from hard study by lightwood knot fires.

dram shop law, with certain modifications. The right of search was conferred upon special constables, and houses could be entered whenever there was a suspicion that liquor was concealed about the premises. This led to the liquor riots early this month, and the shooting of four constables. Immense pressure was brought to bear on Governor Tillman to suspend the operation of the law but he declared that as long as it stood on the statute books he should enforce it. In proceeding under it he went to great extremes and has caused much antagonism.

KELLY WILL MOVE ON EAST.

Army May Leave Iowa on Foot---Jackson Calls Off the Troops.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, April 19.—The committee appointed by the mass meeting yesterday made arrangements for seven teams to transport the baggage and stores of Kelly's industrial army to-day, and Kelly gave his word that the army will march at 10 o'clock. Provisions were freely contributed from Council Bluffs and Omaha yesterday. It is generally considered certain that some other arrangement has been made by which the army is to get a train between here and Underwood to-day.

During the day the camp was visited by thousands of sympathizers. Food, money, clothing, medicine, bedding, pipes, tobacco, and everything needed for the comfort of the army was furnished in abundance. When night fell Kelly was in possession of $1,000 cash and had provisions to last a week, with luxuries to last a month. At midnight the Council Bluffs citizens' committee announced that the industrials would move out at daylight along the line of the Rock Island. At Neola, twenty-five miles out, the Milwaukee and Rock Island tracks run side by side. A train will be captured there. Morgan's army will reach Omaha at 12:30 over the Union Pacific. It consists of seventy-five men and one refrigerator car attached to a fruit train. Gov. Jackson says no opposition will be raised to its entrance.

Gov. Jackson ordered that the militia which has been guarding Kelly's army since its entrance into Iowa shall be withdrawn to the Union Pacific transfer. This was the result of a conference between the governor and prominent citizens who did not like the governor's action.

A mass meeting of citizens assembled in the opera house last night. Finley Burke of the local bar was elected chairman and Thomas Bowman secretary. W. H. M. Pusey said the meeting was for the purpose of devising aid and $150 was raised. Mr. Pusey said he would guarantee that if provisions could be raised for two days more transportation could be secured. Resolutions were passed commending the action of the state and county authorthorities, pledging them support in case of further trouble, declaring that the railway companies should assist in getting the army out of the state. Local physicians visited the camp and administered without charge to fifteen sick.

SENATORS CONSIDER THE CASE.

Do Not Think Trouble Will Occur at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Coxey movement received its first recognition at the hands of the senate yesterday. The question was brought up in executive session. No formal action was taken, and the matter was considered upon a suggestion that, as there were several organizations of men approaching Washington with the avowed purpose of forcing recognition in the way of legislation, it behooved congress to decide what it would do in cases of the arrival of large numbers of men of the character and with the purpose of Coxey's followers. Senator Harris, speaking for the committee on rules, said that the laws now make ample provision for the protection of the buildings and agreed that the committee had taken the necessary steps to see that the laws were executed. A majority of the senators expressed the view that no danger was to be apprehended except possibly from thieves. Four local sympathizers with the Coxey movement called upon the President in the afternoon to request that the Washington barracks be thrown open for the accomodation of the commonweal army during its stay in the city. There are accommodations for several thousand men in the barracks, and the only occupants at present are the soldiers of the Fourth artillery.

Gen. Frye Preparing a Reception.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 19.—Gen. Frye came to the city yesterday ahead of his industrial army, which is fifty miles west. He will remain in the city to prepare a reception for his men, who are expected to spend Friday night here. He says he has 300 followers, among whom there is not a tramp. His men are poorly clad and poorly fed, and this accounts for the slow progress they are making. Gen. Frye will secure a hall, deliver a lecture, and take up a collection.

SEYMOUR, Ind., April 19.—Capt. Galvin, with 225 members of Frye's industrial army, arrived here yesterday. Citizens provisioned them. At Aurora, Ind., just outside of the Ohio state line, the army left the cars and camped in the railway machine shops. They will march into Ohio to relieve the Baltimore & Ohio southwestern of liability for bringing vagrants into the state.

Recruits in Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 19.—The workingmen held a meeting here last night and decided to raise an industrial army to go to Washington. About 200 enlistments were made. A labor meeting is to be held Saturday night next, at which they say they will get 1,000 recruits.

Demand Recognition of Coxey's Army.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 19.—At the quarterly convention of District Assembly No. 3, Knights of Labor, a letter addressed to Senator Quay and Representatives Dalzell and Sipe, demanding the recognition of Coxey's army on its arrival at Washington, adopted and ordered sent. Congress is warned not to make any attempt to suppress the army by arrest or otherwise. A revolution of labor and an uprising of the people will result, it is claimed. The workers of Pittsburg are in a state of unrest.

Boston Joins the Movement.

BOSTON, Mass., April 19.—It has been decided that Boston will send her quota of unemployed to join Coxey's army and a start will be made at noon Saturday from Faneuil hall. Final preparations have been made for 1,000 men to tramp it to Washington.

Fell Into a Vat of Boiling Water.

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 19.—Andrew Wall, an employe of the Rhoades & Utter paper mill, fell into a vat of boiling water late last night and was badly scalded. He is in a critical condition.

A JOYOUS WEDDING WITH LOTS OF COPS

ROYAL ALLIANCE CELEBRATED IN COBURG TODAY-

Noble Guests From All Parts of Europe and Each Queen, Emperor, Duke, Dutchess and Princeling Had a Special Private Escort of Skilled Assasain-Catchers.

COBURG, April 19—The wedding of Princess Victoria of Coburg and Edinburgh, to her cousin, the Grand Duke Ernest Louis of Hesse, took place at 12:30 today. The assembly was the most magnificent seen in many years. Flags of many nations floated in the breeze and over the ducal palace floated the royal standard of Great Britain. The weather was perfect.

The most perfect precautionary measures against an attempt upon the life of some members of the reiguing families assembled here were taken and hundreds of detectives of all nations mingled with the crowds.

Besides these precautions of a general nature the Czarowitz of Russia had a body guard of Russian police and was looked after by some of the most experienced of German detectives.

Pastor Mueller, of the Lutheran church performed the wedding ceremony, assisted by the chaplain of the Grand Duchy of Hesse and five other clergymen. Emperor William escorted the Duchess of Coburg and the Duke of Edinburg escorted Queen Victoria. The queen's safety was looked after by a force of German police in addition to the special English police who guarded her during her stay in Florence, and the Prince of Wales was constantly guarded by two English detectives and a detail of German police. All the palaces were under strong guard.

The ceremony was most impressive. The bridal procession formed at the left of the church amid the booming of cannon, and left with greetings of enthusiastic cheers. Emperor William was in sight only a part of the time. He was worried by the discovery of the alleged plot to kill him. The detective bodyguard accompanied him and kept constant guard over him.

GATHER IN THE RIOTERS.

Sheriffs Arresting Strikers in the Connellsville Coke Regions.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 19.—The Wheeler and Morrell rioters were arrested yesterday by a posse under Deputy Sheriff Richards. The deputies arrived at the Wheeler works before daylight in a special car. As soon as the guard lines could be thrown out a mob of strikers was cornered and the other employes of the company were detained to identify the rioters who beat Engineer Charles Simons and Joseph Ashton. Several rioters are in hiding, and it will be hours before they are all captured. Warrants have been issued for thirty, and as soon as all have been caught they will be brought here on a special train.

President Egan Retires.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19.—J. M. Egan, who has been so long and actively connected with the Chicago Great Western railway, has tendered his resignation as president and general manager, and it has been accepted. Mr. Egan's place has been filled by the election of A. A. Stickney, who was formerly president but of late has been chairman of the board of directors. There had been no previous talk of any such action and it was a stunning surprise in railroad circles.

Mails Must Be Moved.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Postal officials are determined to carry into execution every reasonable plan that will tend to overcome the delays in the mails caused by the strike on the Great Northern road. The department is kept advised of every development in the strike. Assistant General Superintendent Neilson of the railway mail service is at St. Paul superintending the arrangements for relieving the postal delays.

Lieut. Maney's Trial.

CHICAGO, April 19.—The trial of Lieut. Maney for the murder of Capt. Hedberg was continued yesterday. The defense, admitting the shooting, tried to show that Capt. Hedberg was armed when the murder occurred and that Maney acted in self-defense. Evidence proved that Hedberg had struck Maney and called him a coward and that then Maney shot him. Hedberg had his arms full of parcels and had no chance to defend himself.

Three Men Killed.

KEOKUK, April 19.—Three men were killed and a fourth fatally injured by the explosion of a boiler at the electric light plant yesterday. The men were working about a portable engine outside the building, used to operate a wellborer, when the explosion occurred and were blown 100 feet. All were frightfully mutilated. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Good News From Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19.—The summary of the weekly Minnesota crop report shows good progress in seeding all over the state. A good general rain fell during the last twenty-four hours in Minnesota and the Dakotas and the ground is reported to be in fine condition. The weather is fine and farmers feel that the conditions are excellent for a good crop of all kinds of grain.

IT WILL BE WATROUS

Little Doubt About the G. A. R. Election In this City.

A week from today the annual encampment of the Wisconsin department of the Grand Army of the Republic will be in session here in Janesville. It will last two days Wolcott post of Milwaukee will send a delegation which will vote unanimously for Colonel Watrous for post commander. Michael Walsh of Chivas post is very enthusiastic in his support of Watrous and Drake post will probably send a delegation that will probably cast all their votes for Watrous. Adjutant Samuel Tallmadge declaired that Milwaukee veteranse in general were confident that Colonel Watrous would be the next commander.

The election of Watrous would make Milwaukee the department head quarters for a year, but it is not probable that the encampment of 1895 will be held there.

GROCERS ARE IN A COMBINE

State Arrangement Has Begun to Affect the Prices on Sugar.

Local grocers say they are beginning to feel the effect of the meeting of wholesale grocers in Milwaukee a few days ago. The main object of the meeting was to put into effect the equality plan of selling sugars. The corporation scheme has been in successful operation in the New England states ever since the meeting of the wholesale grocers of the country held in New York four or five years ago, and its introduction into this state is held to bevery desirable by those interested. The meeting in Milwaukee was held behind closed doors. One of the objects of organizing is to arrange a mutual understanding that no wholesale grocer will undersell the regular price for sugar for the sake of making a sale of something else.

PLANS MADE FOR ARBOR DAY

Exercises At the Public Schools---The Maple Tree a Favorite.

Friday, April 27, will be Arbor day and it will be properly observed by the public schools. At each school a tree is usually planted and patriotic exercises will be the order of the day. Each school will arrange a programme for itself, but of necessity the exercises will be very similar. Two years ago the state superintendent sent out a book of Arbor Day literature and each school was supplied with copies. The programmes will be arranged from these books. The exercises will consist of patriotic songs and declamations.

In past years some of the schools have planted elms, but they did not thrive well, as a rule. The soft maple is the tree most in favor now.

RECEPTION AT HIS HOME LAST NIGHT.

Two Hundred and Fifty Guests Entertained In the Spacious Parlors—Caledonian Society Will Have a Sort of Farewell Demonstration In Their Rooms This Evening.

Dr. Mills will be tendered a reception by the Rock County Caledonian Society to-night. Last evening Dr. and Mrs. Mills received their many friends at their home in the Second ward. The house was beautified with flowers and the spacious parlors were thronged. Nearly two hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen availed themselves of the opportunity to pay their respects to the doctor and his estimable wife. Light refreshments, including ice cream and cake were served, and from 7 to 10 o'clock the guests were coming and going constantly. The refreshments were served by Charles Daley.

Dr. and Mrs. Mills leave for Europe about May 1, and last night's reception was in the nature of a farewell.

THE PIANO COUPONS IN GREAT DEMAND.

NEW CANDIDATES HAVE BEEN NOMINATED.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co's Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

Piano coupons are at a premium all around town. Besides canvassing for coupons several of the candidates are also securing the votes of those who wish to subscribe for the paper. Names of new candidates are mentioned daily and as fast as votes are received the names will be added to the published list. This is not arranged in the order of voting, but alphabetically.

Everybody who has seen The Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and The Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

Friends of contestants show a lively interest in the success of their favorites and votes are coming in rapidly. New subscribers should be reported as fast as secured, but coupons should be tied in bundles of one hundred each and kept until the day the competition closes. Votes have been cast up to date, for the following candidates:

Baker, Bessie
Clifford, Alice M,
Eldredge, Rose B.
Frink, May
Foster, Lahlie
Gifford, Alice V.
Gibbs, Maria J.
Holt, Ellen
Kenyon, Cora
Kastner, Alice
Loucks, Franc
McNeil, Anna
Peters. Nellie
Randall, Carrie M.
Wright, Ada V.

Names of other candidates will be added as fast as votes are received. Only bona fide candidates will be allowed. The rule that nobody is permitted to enter merely to represent an organized society will be strictly enforced.

From now until the contest closes a coupon will be printed in each issue of the Gazette.

1. Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

2. Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

3. Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

6. The lady who receives the largest number of votes will receive as good and beautiful a piano as the Shaw Piano Company can make.

7. The contest will close June 30, 1894. Piano will be delivered as soon as the counting of votes is completed.

8. Any person who will bring The Gazette one new subscriber paid in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six month, 900 votes,

New subscriber paid in advance one over, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

We will be square with you, you must be square with us. No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

The polls will close at 9:00 p. m., June 30, but votes handed in before this will be duly credited. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

THE VIGILANT CUP AND ITS HISTORY.

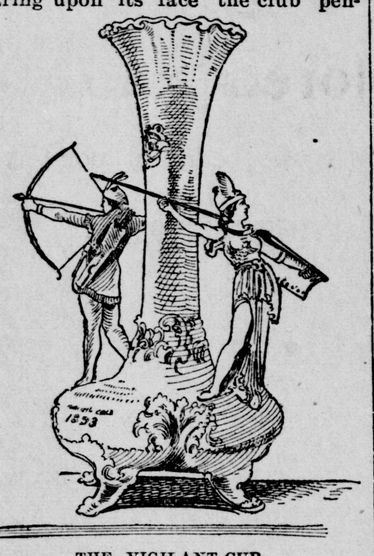

THE FAST YACHT'S OWNERS NOW HAVE IT.

It Is Twenty-Eight Inches High and a Marvel of Artistic Workmanship—To Commemorate the Great International Victory of 1893.

THE HANDSOME silver cup or vase presented by the America cup committee on the night of March 23 to the New York Yacht club has been formally presented to the owner of the Vigilant, which so successfully defended the America cup against the Valkyrie. Those who have seen the cup say that it is the most artistic and appropriate trophy ever offered for a yachting event.

The cup, which stands 21 inches high, on a 7-inch pedestal, was designed and made by the Whiting Manufacturing company in New York city. Around the rim of the vase, which is fluted, are tiny silver shells, and half way down the neck, in bas relief, is the seal of the New York Yacht club, bearing upon its face the club pennant, with the figures "93." Two figures, one on each side of the bowl of the vase, are used to illustrate the recent contest. Valkyrie, wearing a winged helmet, is standing on the right, with her spear poised ready to strike; the divided skirt, the foot gear, in fact all the details have been carried out with remarkable fidelity by the designer. On the left is seen the figure of a typical Indian squaw, meant to represent the Vigilant. She is clothed in male attire—a suit of buckskin—and there is an expression of confidence upon her face and in her attitude that bespeaks victory for her in the contest. The inscription on the body of the cup, the lower part of which is tastefully finished, reads: "To the owners of the Vigilant, from the New York Yacht club, to commemorate the victory over the Valkyrie in defense of the America Cup, 1893."

DOUBT ABOUT THE RIDERS.

Difficulties That Beset the Proposed Revival of Steeple-Chasing.

A great difficulty that will be encountered in the revival of steeple chasing at Coney Island will be the granting of licenses. Neither Mr. Vosburgh nor the stewards of the jockey club have seen anything of the work done by the men who will apply for licenses to ride, except in a few instances at the Jerome Park jumping events of 1891. No one knows really how these riders have lived since steeple-chasing went out of fashion—how precarious have been their lives, or whether they have followed the advice of an old man who, when dying, cautioned his son to "make money; honestly, if you can, but make it." Then there is likely to be much new material brought out in the matter of riders and that will increase the dilemma, but the new blood will not be sufficient to infuse life into the racing. The most notorious of the old line of jumper riders should be barred before scandal taints the cross-country events at Coney Island, and every new comer should submit to a rigid inquiry as to his antecedents and his past life. The average steeplechase rider can "throw" a race with more dexterity than a trotting-horse driver.

A New Manageress.

A new manageress has come to the front in the person of Miss Olga Nethersole, and a few weeks ago she entered into possession of the Court theater, London, and produced "The

OLGA NETHERSOLE.

Transgressor," a new piece by a new author—Mr. A. W. Gattie. Though Mr. Gattie is an unknown author, he has shown he has some good in him. It would be cruel to find too much fault with the play. It may be crude in parts, but it is pathetic, and, what is more, it is a new idea, unconventionally worked out.

Bug Holliday of Cincinnati is declared to be the most tireless player in the world.

AMATEUR BOXING DON'T PAY

It Is Probable that the Affairs of the A. A. U. Will Be Discontinued.

It is probable that the annual boxing championship meetings of the Amateur Athletic Union will be discontinued, or transferred to some other city than New York. The net receipts of the 1894 meeting have not been made public thus far, but an authority no less eminent than "Father Bill" Curtis places them at $200. This makes a sorry showing when considered in connection with the following table:

Meeting of 1888; net profit	$1,026.30
Meeting of March, 1889; net profit	1,597.70
Meeting of December, 1889; net profit	2,941.30
Meeting of 1890; net profit	3,664.65
Meeting of 1891; net profit	927.24
Meeting of 1893; net profit	1,238.79

The treasury of the union is empty. It owes something less than $1,000. "Its debts," says the Spirit of the Times, "are growing at the rate of about $100 a month." By its own confession the union has since its organization given these annual boxing championships because these meetings were its principal source of income. Its utter inability to control the sport and internal weaknesses have contributed to the humiliating retrogression and financial barrenness of these competitions. The National Association of Amateur Oarsmen thrives and is strong. Its decrees are obeyed and enforced. The Amateur Athletic Union is unable to enforce its decrees, and hence its tottering condition so far as dominion over one branch of sport is concerned.

MISS TYREE.

A Dark-Eyed Daughter of Sunny Virginia on the Stage.

It is not often that so conspicuous a hit as that made by Miss Tyree in "The Amazons" is the good fortune of a young actress. Such successes are generally secured, not after a short period of probation, but after long years of practice. Miss Tyree has been on the stage only three years, but, from the first, she has had a comparatively smooth path. As her name implies, she is of Scotch descent. She was born in Virginia and all her early associations were those of the home life and peace of the south. Circumstances rendering it necessary that she should earn her own living, she came north with a view to adopting the theatrical profession in preference to becoming a governess. Her confidence in herself has already been rewarded. Encouraged by the praise of friends, who witnessed her in the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet," at a performance given in Washington, she resolved to study for the stage, and, with this end in view, took lessons in the rudiments of acting. While thus studying, she attracted the attention of Daniel Frohman, who engaged her to understudy a member of his stock company at the Lyceum theater. She had to wait for some time before she got her opportunity, but at last her chance came. Her first part was that of Phyllis Lee, the adventur-

ess in "The Charity Ball." In the same piece, she subsequently played a comedy part, Bess, her versatility being thus put to the test. She acted the latter role for ten months. Her versatility was again shown in "Merry Gotham," in which she played a child of 13, and in "The Grey Mare," in which she again appeared in a comedy character. Miss Tyree's next part was Lucille in "The Wife." Then, in New York, she played the little milliner in "The Guardsman," and, commencing last autumn, Mabel, the American girl, in "An American Duchess," the French maid in "Our Country Cousins," and Sweet Lavender in Mr. Pinero's play of that name. Finally, in the same author's delightful comedy, "The Amazons," she made an artistic and popular success as the Lady Thomasin, familiarly known as "Lord Tommy."

THE DIAMOND.

Tom Lovett has been given one more chance for League life by the Boston club.

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago, Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform the inquirer whether his baldness can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining undestroyed by age or disease the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an imported one, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once. 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

A Standard Bearer.

In the crusade inaugurated nearly half a century ago against the professional ignorance of the old school of medicine, Hostetters' Stomach Bitters was a standard bearer. Its victories over disease, when the old time specifics proved abject failures, proved that the pseudo-philosophy which sanctioned the administration of violent remedies where the case required none, which laid down as unalterable rules blood letting, violent purgation, the use of emetics and the employment of corrosive and cumulative poisons in simple cases of lived and malarial complaint, was in fact te worst of unphilosophy, contrary alike to the laws of true medicinal science, of hygene and of common sense. Biliousness, constipation and chills and fever, as now treated by the Bitters, promptly yield where before they obstinately resisted old fashioned medication. So do dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney comolaint—all surely conquerable by this safe and really philosophic remedy.

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

IT SHOWS THE DIFFERENCE.

The country never had a more effective illustration of the difference between the two parties than was given in the adoption of the quorum-counting rule

The republicans saw, four years ago, what must be done, in view of the threat of the minority to block all legislation. They quietly studied the problem, which is not indeed peculiar to the United States, but belongs to the parliamentary practice of all deliberative bodies as affected by the growth of resistance among the minority. They decided what was necessary to be done and did it. Their opponents had not sense enough to see that this was not a party measure, but a measure necessary to the process of government by deliberative assemblies. They could not look an inch ahead and realize that they would have to do the same thing the moment that they succeeded to power. And it has taken them all this time, including two and a half years of wasted opportunity, to accept the inevitable. It was not Tom Reed, it was the nature of things they were fighting; like angry little boys who beat the stone on which they stubbed their toes.

WELL WORTH READING.

There has been a notable improvement in the literature of display advertising in the past few years. There are gems of expression in the announcements of business houses which it would challenge the ingenuity of editor or essayist to equal in what are called the "reading columns." The fact is that the advertisers frequently furnish the best and most readable matter in the paper, tested simply on its merits as English composition. Between the big lins aimed to catch the eye they frequently say things worth remembering. Although it is not customery to swear the advertiser to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," he frequently contrives to pack some strong veracities into what he wishes to say to the public. When newspapers were in their infancy in this country Thomas Jefferson said that he always read the advertisements; but if the sage of Monticello were living now, with how much eagerness he would have pondered the columns of purely mercantile manifestoes in such a live local paper as The Gazette.

There is doubt about the course to be taken by democratic state conventions this summer. It is one of the unwritten laws of politics that the administration shall be endorsed and commended by all representative bodies of its party; but this year the anti-administration feeling is so strong that such courtesy is not to be confidently expected.

The elimination of the income tax would improve the Wilson bill to that extent, of course; but there are so many other atrocities in it that this one would hardly be missed.

Hill is only one of a good many democrats who are commencing to see the difficulty of popularizing the idea that wages are too high in this country.

Even ambitious Adlai Stevenson begins to take back all he has said about being a presidential candidate.

To Decide Almy Reward Claims.

LEBANON, N. H., April 19.—Judge Smith has ordered a hearing for June 16 to determine to whom the reward belongs for the capture of Almy, the murderer of Christy Warden. There are five claimants

WITH THE WITS.

Professor Kemics—And now, Mr. Smarty, you may name an instance of capillary attraction. Mr. Smarty—Paderewski.

"Tom is particular." "In what way?" "Why, when we became engaged he insisted upon my breaking off all my other engagements.

Student—I will tell you frankly that I shall not be able to pay for the suit till next year. When will you have it ready? Tailor—Next year.

Teacher—Johnny, you may tell the class where North America is on the map. Brooklyn Scholar—It's right west of Greater New York, mum.

"Hello, Banks. Been losing at the races again, haven't you? Just your blamed luck." "Not much; away ahead this time." "I thought so. Can you lend me a five?"

Aspiring Poet—I'll set the whole world ablaze yet. His Wife—I do hope you will, dear. Would you mind making a fire in the kitchen stove—just as a matter of practice, you know.

Mr. Isaacs—I sells you dot coat at a great sacrifice. Customer—But you say that of all your goods. How do you make a living? Mr. Isaacs—Mein frient, I makes a schmall profit on the paper and string.

Friend—So you think English will become the universal language? Philosopher—Unquestionably. There are already in it 250,000 words, mostly from other languages, and it won't take long to add the rest.

Judge—Have you hypnotized the prisoner? Professor—I have. "Well, what are you waiting for?" "I am waiting for you to decide whether I shall make him confess that he did it or make him confess that he didn't."

Senior Partner—I think that new traveling man of ours will make a great success. Junior Partner—How so? Senior Partner—He was in the office with his wife this morning and she didn't get a chance to speak for ten minutes.

Guest—Landlord, you may bring me a sirloin steak. Let it be fresh and juicy, broiled half through, but not too rare, very tender, and be sure that you use real fresh butter. Landlord—Why, if I had such a fine thing as that, sir, I'd eat it myself.

Fogg, dreamily—I wonder why it is that a married man pays so much attention to women? Mrs. Fogg—He probably thinks because one woman was fool enough to believe all he said that all other women swallow as gospel truth everything he utters.

PROGRESS OF INVENTION.

Street cars were first used in this country in 1850 and in England ten years later.

Artificial wood for furniture, roofs, insulators, etc., is now made by burning magnesite together with wood, shavings, sawdust, cotton, hair or wool.

A German officer has invented a motor in which a fine stream of coal dust is utilized to drive a piston by explosion in the same manner as the gas in the gas engine.

A useful hand lamp is simply a vial filled with heated olive oil into which a small piece of phosphorus has been dropped. The light will shine whenever the bottle is uncorked, admitting the air.

The new magazine rifle which the French army is experimenting with can be fired 100 times without being taken from the shoulder and the cartridges weigh only half as much as ordinary ammunition.

In the British navy is the most singular ship in the world, the Polyphemus. It is simply a long steel tube, buried deeply in the water, the deck rising only four feet above the water's level. It carries no masts or sails, and is used as a ram or torpedo boat.

At a recent meeting of the Japan society in London the chairman made a practical suggestion. He said that the sound produced by bamboo pipes was very soft and mellow; that it was largely used by the Japanese in the manufacture of musical instruments. and it seemed possible that organ-builders might derive advantage from the use of this reed for organ pipes.

A lunar rainbow was seen recently at Durham, N. C. While a slight shower was falling the moon shone brightly in the east and outlined against a dark western cloud was seen a silvery bow, very bright and clear, for some minutes.

Warren Brazington, who was lately pardoned from Auburn, N. Y., prison by Governor Flower, in what was supposed to be the last stage of consumption, is rapidly regaining his health. His cough and emaciation were brought about by swallowing tobacco juice.

The celebration of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kendall of Granby, Conn., recently was noteworthy on two accounts. Mrs. Kendall was attired in the dress in which she was married, and cake which was left over from their tenth wedding celebration was served.

BAR TO THE STRIKERS.

Judge Sanborn Enjoins Great Northern Men From Violence.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19.—Judge Sanborn of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday granted an application of the Great Northern railway company restraining strikers disabling any of the engines, cars or other property of the company or from interfering in any manner with men who desire to continue in the service of the company, or with men who may be employed to take the places of those who quit its services and from interfering with or obstructing in any wise the operation of the railway. The complaint alleges that the amount in controversy exceeds $200,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

The Great Northern yesterday sent out two trains, one being the regular coast train. They were accompanied by deputy United States marshals armed with the restraining order of the Federal court.

Trainmen of the Great Northern on strike at Sioux Falls, S. D., offered to take the mail to St. Paul, but nothing else. The company said if they would not take the whole train they could not take the mail. Telegraphers on the line between Sioux Falls and Yankton are out, and operators were at the offices but part of the day. The tie up reached Sioux Falls at 6 o'clock last night. There are no indications of resumption on the road.

At Wahpeton, N. D., the American Railway union held a mass meeting at the opera house. There was a large attendance and an expression of sympathy with the strikers as long as they used no violence.

Supt. Winter attempted to take out the east bound mail and passenger train, but was forcibly prevented by the strikers. Everything is quiet, but the men are determined to let no trains run. The order for the men to strike at Minneapolis has been issued. It at first read for 7 o'clock in the morning, but was later changed for 1 o'clock.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Abram S. Hewitt.

Abram Stevens Hewitt, ex-mayor of New York, who made a sensation by his caustic speech at the dinner of the Southern society in the city of New York, has taken little or no active part in public affairs of late, but that he has not lost interest in them was shown by his outburst of long pent pessimism. Despite the magnificent success which he has made of his own career, he seems to persist in thinking that things are going to the dogs. He was born at Haverstraw, N. Y., in 1822 and received his early training in the public schools of New York city. He then earned a more liberal education by hard work and became a lawyer, but failing eyesight prevented him from practicing, and he went into the manufacturing firm of Cooper & Hewitt, which has been very successful. Mr. Hewitt was elected to congress in 1874 and served till 1886. He was chairman of the Democratic national committee in 1876 and introduced in congress the famous electoral commission bill for the settlement of the Hayes-Tilden election dispute. He was elected mayor of New York in 1886.

DENVER, Colo., April 19.—Col. A. C. Fisk, president of the Pan-American Bimetallic league, is about to write the governors of all the southern states to ship their unemployed negroes to New York and New England as an object lesson.

FORTY FROM HERE SANG IN BELOIT

CHOIR FESTIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Two Bodies of Vested Singers Joined In a Service of Praise at St. Paul's Church—Supper Served In Oddfellows Hall and Brief Speeches Added to Other Attractions.

The vested choir of Trinity church, to the number of about forty, with several other members of the parish, went to Beloit yesterday afternoon to participate in the annual choir festival with St. Paul's choir of that city. They left in carryalls at 4:30, and after a delightful ride, arrived at Beloit shortly after 6 o'clock, proceeding directly to St. Paul's church. A short practice with the two choirs was held and the service commenced at seven o'clock. As the procession passed down the south aisle and up the center to the chancel, it was a most impressive sight, the long line of white-robed choristers marching two and two, each choir preceded by its crucifer, and all singing that glorious hymn "O, Mother Dear, Jerusalem." Evening prayer was read by Rev. Dr. Royce, of Beloit, the music being rendered with good effect by the combined choir of sixty voices. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Wotton, of Trinity church, and was a masterly effort, his remarks addressed to the choristers being very fine. During the offertory the Janesville choir sang the anthem, "If We Believe That Jesus Died," in a manner to win praise from all who were present. The recessional hymn, "Jerusalem the Golden," concluded the grand service. The next in order followed the supper, which was served by St. Agnes' guild, in the Odd Fellows' hall. It was a bountiful repast, and faultlessly served reflecting great credit on the ladies who so kindly furnished it. After supper several short speeches were made and a general good time concluded the festivities, a moonlight ride home completing one of the most enjoyable occasions in the history of Trinity church choir. Besides Rev. Mr. Wotton those who were present from this city were:

Mesdames—

"Those who were present at the presentation of La Belle Russe by John Griffith's company at the Cresent Opera house on Tuesday evening describe it as one of the best things ever given in the city. The leading artists in particular and the whole cast were commended in very flattering terms. One very prominedt citizen declared that the same play onght to be repeated, the admission put at one dollar and every seat taken. The company will make their final appearance this evening and will present Faust again. The excellent manner in which this play will be presented should draw a large crowd.

E. B. MOSES HAS HOPES OF TEXAS

People Down South Are Getting Very Sick of the Democratic Party.

E. B. Moses, formerly of this city, but who has resided in Louisiana for a number of years, writes home to his brothers, that while the south will remain democratic so far as the state governments are concerned, all or nearly all will go republican hereafter in the presidential elections. He says the leading democrats of the south especially in Louisiana, Missippi and Texas are heartily sick of their party in congress, and openly avow their purpose of sending protection representatives to Washington hereafter. The republican candidate for president at the next election, he writes, will certainly carry Louisiana and Mississippi, and will make a close run in Texas.

CANARY LOST MONEY BY BACKING A CHECK

JAMES MORAN FLOATED FORGED PAPER.

When the First Attempt Was Headed Off He Was Not Worried But Put a Second Piece of Forging In Circulation—Police Looking For the Pedler.

James Moran, a vender of a patent carpet stretcher, who has been working the territory round about Janesville for several weeks, is wanted by the police on charge of forgery.

Moran made his headquarters at William Canary's hotel, and succeeded in getting Canary to endorse a check on a Woodstock bank, which was cashed by the Merchants' & Mechanics' bank. The check was forwarded for collection, but returned as a forgery. It was signed by Supervisor E. P. Smith. Yesterday morning Moran presented another $65 check, endorsed by Canary, at the Merchants & Mechanics bank, but was told that the first check had been returned with a statement that it was a forgery. Moran was very cool about it. He explained that he got the check from a brother who is a molder at Woodstock, and left the second one at the bank to be forwarded for payment. Then he left the bank and has not been seen since, although the police have been searching the city for him. Canary says he did not sign the second check, that it was forgery, and is anxious to have his guest arrested.

Ladies' Waists.

Next Monday morning we will place on sale one hundred dozen ladies' white lawn waists, three box pleats front and back, attached belt. Well made and just the thing to wear around the house. Sizes are 32 to 42, and the price will be ten cents, which would barely pay for the buttons and thread used in making. The price will hold as long as the lot lasts, but the chances are that won't be a great while. Take advantage of a good thing next Monday morning.

HUNTED BY SPOOKS WHO SEEK HIS CASH

MICHAEL FLYNN WILL GO TO MENDOTA.

He Thinks Spirits Are Trying to Rob Him of Big Sums of Money and Last Night He Fled Across the Country to Europe to Escape Them.

Michael Flynn, of Footeville, was taken into custody this afternoon by Chief of Police Acheson. Flynn will undoubtedly be sent to Mendota insane asylum. He has been confined in an asylum before in Minnesota. He imagines that he has a large sum of money in the bank, and that spirits are trying to get it away from him. Last evening he took a horse and buggy belonging to a farmer in the town of Rock and fled across the country to Footville to escape from the spooks. He was captured this afternoon while coming into the city with the horse and buggy.

Constable George Acheson, of Magnolia, had considerable trouble last night and today with an unknown crazy tramp whom he found terrorizing the peaceable farmers of his township. The tramp is six and a half feet high, heavily built, is a dangerous looking man, and very violent. Constable Acheson brought him to this city and lodged him in jail.

THE SIDEWALK WIZARD.

When the day gets mild and mellow,
Just as people do with age,
And the sun makes red and yellow
Pictures on the azure page,
Then we say "farewell" to daytime,
Then we banish books and sums,
Then the city takes its playtime,
Then the organ grinder comes.

How the heart goes lightly chiming
To the melody that springs
From some simple poet's rhyming
Pulsing through the vibrant strings!
Children flock with faces beaming,
Old age, too, the music hums—
All is youth in fact or seeming
When the organ grinder comes.

And the dancers, lithe and merry,
Trooping, haste like hordes of elves,
Weaving webs that blend and vary,
Known to none except themselves.
'Tis a fairyland in true life,
Where no grief the spirit numbs,
And we find a sparkling new life
When the organ gringer comes.
—Washington Star.

DEBORA'S IDEA.

"A woman's idee air sometimes wurth considerin," began Fisherman Joe, tilting his chair back and giving incessant puffs at the stem of his old clay pipe. "I hev found thet out for sure. Now, for more years 'an I can remember, we lived down on ther P'int, Debora an me.

"We fished, raised chickens, ducks an geese, an between 'em all, with the'r eggs, we made a purty tolerabul fair livin an hed a little mite over. But ther mite over went mostly for house rent, so a mighty little was left to go down in ther sock for a rainy day. Howsumever, ther little in ther sock cumilated fust straight, an we made ther fust payment on this place. An by ther time we'd saved up nigh on to er lifetime we paid ther last cent on it, an ther place was ours. We fixed it up some, givin it a tuch when we could, an fust thing we knowed we hed a mighty fine place. All it lacked was ther house, an we 'lowed to hev thet if we lived long enough. An thinkin of thet we helt up our heads proudlike an worked on, every now an then haulin out ther sock an droppin somethin thet chinked into it.

"We wouldn't count what we hed not for months, 'cause we wanted it to cumilate unbeknownst to us, but last spring we got so cur'us about it we looked to see how much was ther an found most enough to start on our house. An just then hard times set in an smashed thet idee flat. Times got worse an worser. I couldn't sell my fish or nuthin. People said times was too hard to buy such things as ducks, spring chickens an eggs, so ther warn't no use for me to fetch 'em round. But I kept goin an kept not sellin too.

"From then on for about seven months me an Debora didn't make as much as 2 bits. An all the time rent hed to be paid, an we hed to have somethin to eat. So down in thet sock we hed to go every month. At them times we wouldn't look at one 'nother nor say a word. We knowed how hard we'd worked for it an what it was for, so we'd just use it slow an hide our feelin's best way we could. Now, not far from where we lived ther was a purty fair lookin house. It was built after we moved to ther P'int an was standin ther just like it was when ther carpenters finished it. Nobody hed ever lived in it, 'cause it was ha'nted. Everybody said so, an it was, too, an no mistake about it. We, Debora an me, knowed it.

"We lived closer to it 'an anybody else an hed seen an heard 'nough to know thet house was as full of ha'nts as one generally gits, but ther house we lived in belonged to ther man who owned ther ha'nted house, so it didn't do for us to air all we knowed about it. But this is ther way the ha'nts got in it:

"Ther carpenters was two young men, considered well behaved an genteel. Tom was ther best lookin—he was most purty. Ed was ugly as sin. Howsumever, they was both well liked by everybody. They boarded up at Miss Biscom's, but it was so far from ther house thet to keep from losin time Miss Biscom would send their dinner. She didn't have no little children, but had a grown daughter, Jessie, an every day when ther 12 o'clock whistles would blow Jessie Biscom would come down with ther young men's dinner. They'd spread it out on a pile of lumber, an while they'd be eatin Jessie would be laughin an talkin to 'em. An then when ther turnout whistles would blow she'd gather up ther dishes an go on home, an ther boys back to work. Jessie was a purty girl—plump as any partridge you ever seen an as rosy as a apple.

"Ther boys hed only been to Miss Biscom's two days when they said no money could make 'em leave ther, not long as Jessie staid with her ma. Their likin for her was plain as daylight. They would watch for her at noon an watch her clear out of sight when she went back home. An in ther evenin's the'd hurry up ther as fast as they could go, just to be with Jessie. The boys was good friends when they fust come to ther P'int, but thet purty face of Jessie Biscom come between 'em. Debora an me could see thet before they could see it themselves. We lived so close we could tell by their looks, first at her, then at themselves, an more'n once Debora said ther was trouble ahe'd for them very same young people.

"Every Sunday ther three went out walkin together, Jessie in ther middle, Ed on one side, Tom on ther other. Thet was all right, but when a dance come erlong one was sure to get left, an thet was generally Ed. Tom kept his ears open for everything come along an would ask Jessie to go with him, an of course she'd say yes to the first one thet asked her. So things went on, an by the time ther house was done things was gettin seri'us with ther boys, specially with Ed. They was up to their ears in love with Jessie, an she liked Tom ther best. Thet made Ed mad 'nough to eat up everybody livin on ther P'int.

"One night ther boys didn't hurry up home to Miss Biscom's as they hed been doin right straight along. They hed been quarrelin most all day an 'peared like they was goin to hev it out then an ther. Ed was doin most of ther fussin, an Tom tryin to make him hush. Me an Debora sat still an listened. Ther boys got madder an madder, an presently we heard a big slap in ther face an Ed say:

" 'Take thet, sir!'

"We knowed he hed hit Tom, an in a minute more Tom hit him back. Then such a noise you never hearn. They fit, fit, fit. All over ther room they scrambled an whacked one 'nother. I got scared they was murderin an rushed over to save 'em, but I got there too late. As I teched ther door Ed stuck his knife in Tom's heart, an ther poor boy staggered across ther room an fell dead. Ed slipped through ther door, an before I could catch him or even say a word he had gone.

"He left ther place for good thet night, an nobody round ther P'int ain't laid eyes on him since. Of course it went hard with Jessie, 'cause she liked Tom an was by natur' a mighty feelin girl. She's livin down there yet, an ther P'int people say she's takin care o' her ma an ain't no notion of ever gittin married.

"Well, since thet night nobody would move into thet house. Mr. Hackney put ther rent down low—mighty low for such a house as it was—but thet didn't rent it worth a cent. Every night after thet one we could hear a clatter, groans an then a fall. It never missed a night. This went on for years an years. So ther house set thar goin to rack.

"Well, last year when times was so hard Mr. Hackney said he'd like to sell it. We hed an idee he would too. But who was goin to buy it? As ther summer went by an times got harder Mr. Hackney would come down in his figers. He did this reg'lar every month, an yet nobody would buy. In September me an Debora got mighty blue. We hedn't been makin nothin an was still doin ther same.

"We looked down in thet old sock an found just fifteen dollars an a quarter. Thet would pay ther rent three months longer, providin we didn't eat nutnin durin thet time. If we did, then we could only count on livin in ther house two months longer, then bein dumped out in ther mud. We didn't know what to do. I spent my time walkin ther front gallery, tryin to scratch some sort o' idee out o' my head, an Debora took ther back gallery to herself. About thet time we kivered more ground walkin them galleries then we hed any idee of. But to save my head I couldn't get an idee in it. Debora beat me there. One evenin she flop through ther house an say:

" 'Joe, I got an idee.'

" 'Out with it,' says I.

" 'Here 'tis,' says she. 'Mr. Hackney's figures gone down to $15 for thet ha'nted house. Let's buy it an move it up to our lot, live in it an save house rent.'

" 'What about ther ha'nts?' says I.

" 'Turn 'em out,' says she. 'Turn ther ha'nts inside out. See?'

"Now, wasn't thet an idee for you? We fished out thet sock, paid Mr. Hackney for ther ha'nted house, an me an Debora took it good. You ought to seen her pullin out the nails with ther crowbar! Such a trump my Debora is anyhow! We borrowed two poles, a flat and a skiff an towed it up here. In our skiff was two sets of oars. Debora hed one set, me t'other, an I tell you we made thet flat move. Then we put it up. We turned all ther boards inside out, like Debora said, an scattered 'em all round. So when it was done there wan't no one wall high as it was at fust. It was for sure turned inside out.

"One night ther ha'nts was makin a fuss, an I warn't payin no 'tention to 'em, but Debora sided up right close an says right out an in a tremblyfied tone, 'J-o-o-e, air you asleep?'

" 'Yes,' says I. 'Don't wake me.'

" 'Do you hear them ha'nts, J-o-o-e?'

" 'Yes,' says I, 'but they is outside an pretty scattered. One ghost foot in this room, one in ther other, an ther hands an feet's in ther other part o' ther house an stand all outside. You ain't afr'id of ghost tenants, air you, Debora? It's your idee.' Debora went to sleep, an she ain't said 'ha'nts' to me since.

"Ther's a small racket round of nights—it is so scattered we don't mind it."

Fisherman Joe refilled his pipe, glanced around over his house, and with a breath long and full of content said: "Yes, thet was Debora's idee. Wurth considerin, wasn't it?"—Virginia Payne Henrichs in Philadelphia Times.

Didn't Like the Notice.

The author of "Lorna Doone"' has a decided repugnance to anything that savors of personal advertisement. Only one portrait of him, that which appears in the cheap edition of his novels, has ever been taken, and it was with the greatest difficulty that he could be induced to sit for that. Not very long ago an enterprising bookstall keeper in the district where Mr. Blackmore lives pasted up a notice announcing "A new story by our local novelist." Mr. Blackmore, so the tale goes, happened to pass soon afterward and saw the placard. He was furious and ordered it to be at once pulled down. There was certainly some justification for Mr. Blackmore's action, for, whatever else he is, he cannot be correctly described as a "local novelist."—London Million.

Superstition.

You cannot do it. Show me the man or woman who is without superstition. Many a time and oft I jump from my bed, refreshed with a night of restful sleep, and after a plunge in my bath find myself keeping time as I rub briskly with a rough towel by whistling an air or humming a tune. Do I finish it? Not much. I try to whistle it backward or sing it backward. In any event I regret having begun the day wrong. Absurd? Of course it is absurd. No one knows it better than I, but without arguing the matter pro or con that is a sample recital of facts.—Joe Howard.

Trying to Escape.

"There!" said the young wife, proudly, as she deposited the hot plate carefully on the table. "That's the first mince pie that I ever made without any help, all alone myself."

"So it is!" exclaimed her husband enthusiastically, looking over it critically meanwhile. "And as long as it is the very first, my dear, don't you think that, instead of cutting it, it would be nice to keep for a souvenir! How would it do to have it framed?"—Somerville Journal.

Failed to Follow His Remarks.

Juvenile Depravity.

A gloomy small boy was going home with a monster kite in his hand.

"Wh-e-ew!" exclaimed an admiring acquaintance. "They's no flies on that kite."

"Nope," was the answer. "That's what's the matter with it."—Chicago Post.

What Sort Of a Piano Does The Gazette Give Away?

The Best that Money Can Buy.

Not an Upright Piano in the Market Excells the Shaw--- Few Equal It.

Piano Buyers often pin their faith blindly to certain makes of Pianos famed in the Concert Rooms. Experts tell us, however, that the upright pianos sent out by certain firms making a Specialty of Concert Grands, are far Inferior to the Shaw. In such establishments the "grand" gets all the care and watchfulness and skill--- the "uprights" are turned out like so many wash tubs.

This isn't true of Shaws.

Nothing but uprights and only one grade of them are made in the big Erie, Pa., factory. The foremen of the three leading departments are three of the best men, one from Steinway's, one from Knabe's and one from Chickering's factory.

They brought together the best points in construction from the three leading factories of the country. So much for workmanship. Now for material. Here are the

"WHAT WOULD WE DO WERE WE BUT FREE."

AMBITIONS OF THREE STAGE CELEBRITIES.

Rose Coghlan Would Like to Ride Post Horses and Climb Hills—May Irwin Would Play Hamlet—Marie Jansen Would Entertain Lonely Bachelors.

STAGE FAVORites who have been before the public for several seasons past and have been identified with its successes are supposed to have no particular interest beyond the art upon whose altar they had immolated themselves. Rose Coghlan said she had not reached the goal of her ambition. She had accomplished much, had been applauded for more than she had accomplished, and yet felt that there were worlds still to conquer, and as she was in that line she proposed to exert herself for further conquests.

"My position before the public," she said, "is entirely and clearly defined in a personal sense, and my ambition for professional eminence is acknowledged. I am ambitious for further eminence, and hope to be remembered by posterity as an artist. But—shall I confess it?—art is not all. Do you know what would give me the greatest personal gratification? Dashing across the country on the back of a horse which few could handle and a less number ride, leaping fences and ditches; to drive and walk, to clamber up steep hillsides. These are things that would give me real pleasure, give me genuine comfort, and they are incidents of life that I look forward to and am ambitious to attain.

"The stage is an appreciative taskmaster, though a very hard one; yet it rewards as can no other profession to which women turn their attention.

"What profession could a women undertake that would compensate as the stage does some of our actresses who fill the positions of leading ladies? What profession could guarantee an income of $100 a week nine months of the year? and yet there are but very few women known as leading ladies who get so little. The income a woman derives from her work upon the stage, if she be of careful habits, makes her independently rich in a very short time. Yet some day you will call upon me, in a quiet, unfrequented nook away from the crowd, the footlight fascinations, where this truer, if not as well defined ambition of mine will have full sway, and with line and rod, give you such a day's sport as my mind pictures, that will give you an insight into a woman's ambition that is not in evidence in the actress."

In a recent talk with the writer, Marie Jansen said:

"My position in comedy and the way I have been received by the public ought to satisfy the ambition of any actress and probably would me, but I am of an independent nature, and my life-long ambition has been to be free and untrammeled, just as I love to discard the habiliments of my sex and assume those of the sterner. I love to appear as a boy without the cumbersome stays that are a part of a feminine wardrobe. I simply speak of this as indicative of my desire for freedom. Aside from my professional ambition, I hope that some time when managers have ceased to find me remunerative property, for I suppose such a time will come—it comes to all of us—I will have an establishment of my own, where I can entertain men of bright mind; men to whose conversation it is a pleasure to listen; who entertain you without an effort at entertaining—in fact, I would love to be a perfect Peg Woffington. Next to my house I would have another fitted for bachelors, so that when my friends came their quarters would be ready for them and their stay might be an hour, a day or a week, as it suited their tastes and likings. You see, there is a trait of Bohemianism in my composition and it is my ambition when my allotment of labor is finished to preside over such an establishment. I may not be and never was anxious for the peace and bliss that are supposed to be a part of a matrimonial condition, and I do not look forward to such a condition either as a personal gratification or a stepping-stone to any position that is not possible for me in a state of single existence. I do not mean to say by this that I would never marry—many well-meaning people have married time and again—as there might be conditions or circumstances that would induce me to give up the freedom I love so much for a matrimonial condition, but I have no desire for it and only look forward to prominence in my chosen profession and at the end of my usefulness, in a professional sense, I am ambitious to live surrounded by my friends."

To those who have had their risibles excited by the efforts of May Irwin it would seem to be almost impossible that she would willingly permit the frost-bite of tragedy to nip in the bud her almost irresistible remedy, yet such is a fact, for when she was asked to state what her honest and particular ambition was she quickly replied with the one word, "Hamlet."

"Now, don't laugh, please, as you will surely upset my serious thought concentrated upon a very serious subject.

"Women have played Hamlet before now. Anna Dickinson was given some praise for her public performance, and while she might the more nearly look the preconceived notions of the melancholy Dane, yet her mind could not be more earnest nor her taste more firmly fixed than mine in a desire to enact the role that is essentially, almost arbitrarily, masculine. It was that feeling that sent me from Tony Pastor to Augustin Daly, and I was about as well fitted to undertake the work allotted me by the 'Governor' (Augustin Daly) as I would be for the position of the first executive of the land, yet having undertaken the 'legit' I stuck to it for four years most bravely in spite of the fact that other managers gave me no rest from their importunities to return to the vaudeville stage and others besieging me with offers of farce-comedy engagements.

To be or not to be, that is the question;
Whether 'tis better in the mind to suffer
The narrow confines of the "legit," and ambition dwarfed,
Or accept the ducats, palace cars, and big type
With which to spell my name,
And thus, let my spirits soar
In unhonored fun?

"Torn by these conflicts I struggled for almost four seasons with Mr. Daly in an honest endeavor to become perfectly legitimate, and the harder I worked for the artistic the more uncontrollable my desire became to introduce lines for 'business,' which I knew would take the audience. During my last season I could not help but introduce a speech. It took all right, and when I made my exit I was met by Mr. Daly, who said to me:

MARIE JANSEN.

'Was that speech in your lines?' I said: 'No; but it went well, didn't it?' I favored him with a large, joyous smile and wondered whether he would increase my salary or give me a better position in the company. He replied in sepulchral tones: 'You will remain content with the lines of the author, Miss Irwin, if you please.' This did discourage me, in very fact, and I concluded that it was useless to continue, and at the end of that season resigned, with no settled intentions regarding my future employment, with no ambition other than the impossible one of becoming a man that I might be accepted as Hamlet."

Sparrows and Martins Fight.

Prof. F. H. King of River Falls, Wis., saw a flock of sparrows win a pitched battle with some purple martins. The sparrows were trying to get possession of breeding places which had been occupied for several years by the martins. The sparrows congregated in a large flock upon a tree standing near the building in the cornice under the eaves of which the martins had their nests.

From this point a number of sparrows would together attack the martins and then return to the tree, to be followed by a similar squad. This method of attack was followed until three martins had been killed, some of them having had their eyes picked out. It need hardly be added that the martins were forced to leave.

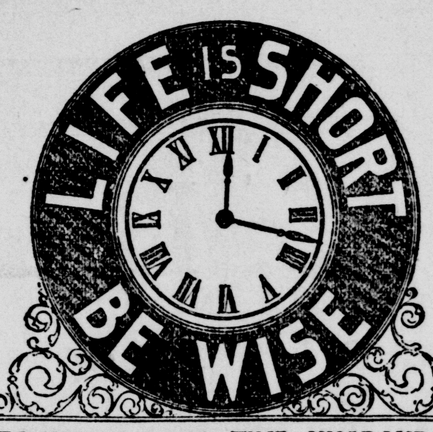

An Incredible Story.

Many good people living in secluded spots do not realize how serious a study the game of whist has become of late years. A certain gentleman and his wife who settled in a country town brought with them from Boston a love of whist and recently gave a whist party to some of their neighbors, who came as people doing something daring. A day or two later one of the older ladies of the village extorted from her daughter the confession that she had been at the whist party.

"What do they do at whist parties?" she asked.

"Why, they play cards," was the response.

"That's what I'd heard," was the old lady's retort, "but I didn't believe it."

Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes;

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrhal Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 18 inches from my ear I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

ELECTRIC LINES AFTER OSHKOSH.

TWO COMPANIES FIGHTING FOR THE FRANCHISE.

Aldermen Have the Rival Claimants In a Star Chamber and Nobody Is Allowed to Hear What Goes On—Belt Line vs. the "In and Out" System.

OSHKOSH, April 19—Two street railway franchises are before Oshkosh aldermen. The debates have been going on for three weeks behind closed doors, but the finance committee, which has the matter in charge, is now almost ready to report. Notwithstanding the reticence of the members of the committee, small portions of the discussion have leaked out. That both franchises are undergoing many changes is authoritatively stated, especially that of the home company. The committee desires that firemen, while on duty, shall be allowed to ride free of charge. This does not include rides to meals, but has especial reference to the times when the firemen are responding to an alarm and have missed the apparatus.

The main issue in the granting of the franchises to be decided by the committee is whether a belt line or the other line will be for the best interests of the city. It is understood that the company is about evenly divided upon this point, with the odds in favor of the line that touches the principal streets.

The company that gets the franchise will be compelled to deposite a $5000 forfeit in one of the city banks as evidence of good faith.

The Illinois Senatorship.

WATSEKA, Ill., April 19.—William R. Mason, candidate for United States senator, will have at least seven out of the thirteen votes in the Iroquois delegation to the republican state convention. The minority, six in number, will favor Senator Cullom. The convention here yesterday selected thirteen delegates to the congressional assembly. They were instructed to vote for Joseph G. Cannon. This will give Mr. Cannon the twenty-three votes of Vermilion and the thirteen of Iroquois, thirty-six in all, or a majority of the convention.

Block Coal Miners Hesitate About Joining the General Strike.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 19.—The block coal miners of this district, numbering about 2,000, held a mass meeting at the court house in this city yesterday to decide whether they would join the general strike Saturday or continue work until their contract expires May 1. The men declared they were in honor bound to abide by the contract with the operators until it expired; then they would promptly join the strikers if a settlement was not reached. The meeting adjourned without rendering a final decision. A delegate meeting will be held Friday, when probably definite action will be taken.

Secretary Carlisle Cited to Court.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The course of Secretary Carlisle in deposing from office certain republican officials of the treasury who held office under the civil service laws is to be tested in the courts. Yesterday attorneys applied to the Supreme court of the district for a mandamus compelling the secretary to reinstate Eugene E. Gallis, over whose case there was some spicy correspondence between the civil service commission and the secretary. Judge Bradley signed an order for the secretary to show cause Tuesday, April 24, why the mandamus should not be issued.
